Beginning Sounds: Four in a Row Game

Four in a Row Gameboard

Phoneme Phone

Die

Chips

Directions:

1. Each player must gather a pile of colored chips. Decide which player will go first.
2. Take turns rolling the die. Match the number rolled to a letter on the chart below.
3. Using the Phoneme Phone to listen for beginning sounds, place one of your chips on a gameboard picture that has the starting sound you rolled.
4. The first player to complete a row of 4 chips vertically, horizontally, or diagonally wins!

Aa	Mm	Ii	Ss	Ff	Tt

Connect to Social-Emotional Learning

Games help teach preschoolers many social-emotional skills, such as how to be a good sport even when you don't win. Emphasize how much fun you had playing the game together and ask children what their favorite part of the game was. It may be tempting to let children win to avoid negative emotions like anger or frustration. However, learning how to lose is an important skill on its own. Losing teaches perseverance and resilience!

Permission is granted for limited reproduction of pages for in-home or classroom use and not for resale.

Beginning Sounds: Four in a Row Game

Permission is granted for limited reproduction of pages for in-home or classroom use and not for resale.